Class Officers Elected

Friday's Election Had Small Turnout; No Run-Off Necessary Wednesday

Officers for the senior, junior, and sophomore classes were elected Friday in an election that saw only a minority of the eligible voters going to the polls.

A total of 431 votes were cast by the three classes. The sophomores polled the highest vote with 180 ballots cast. Both the junior and senior classes showed about the same enthusiasm for vote casting with the juniors polling 126 ballots and the seniors casting 125 into the political count.

All candidates received the necessary majority vote which eliminated the run-off election.

Those elected were:

Senior class — Jan Haggerty, president; June Robertson, vice-president; Connie Jones, secretary; and Marcella Brokofsky, treasurer.
Junior class — Phil Robertson, president; Betty Sills, vice-president; Beverly Clay, secretary; and Charlotte Harder, treasurer.

Youth Groups To Take Part in Panel

Members of a student inter-religious committee, and high school representatives met in the coop yesterday to formulate plans for a panel discussion sponsored by the youth of Santa Clara county at the "Institute of Human Relations" to be held November 1 and 2.

This affair will be sponsored by the National Association of Christians and Jews, and will be held in the Civic auditorium.

Topic for the panel will be "Education for Citizenship," and will stress the problems and possible solutions which are being carried out by high schools and colleges in Santa Clara county.

Leaders of youth groups, and representatives from colleges and high schools will be invited.

Bob James, executive secretary of the SCA, presided over the meeting. Representing various groups were: Eileen Mulcahy, Frances Tuttle, Muriel Waltz and Abner Fritz of San Jose college; Lilly Ikida and Louise Mason of San Jose high; Marvin Fox and Tom Warren of Abraham Lincoln high.

RED FEATHER DRIVE SHORT

Community Chest contributions totaled $1,771.45 at 4 Friday afternoon.

Chairman of the drive, George Milias, reminds organizations that late contributions may be turned in today at the Business office. A list of organizations that gave 100 per cent to the Chest fund will be published in tomorrow's Spartan Daily.

"Only about $230 is needed to raise our total to the $2000 mark," states Milias, "so turn in your money today."

TRAIN TICKETS TO COP ON SALE!

Train tickets to the College of Pacific game will go on sale today in the Business office for $3.35, announces Bob Johnson, Rally committee chairman.

"Only 1200 tickets will be sold," said Johnson, "so if you want to be one of the lucky ones, get yours today. We hope to have a 19 or 20 coach train, with a baggage car stripped down for a coke bar and dancing."

Tentative leaving time for the train is 3 Friday, November 8. Students will arrive in Stockton about 6:30. Plans for a Noise parade are being considered by the COP Rally committee. After the game the train will leave for San Jose at 12:30 or 1.

Tickets will be sold to student body members only, and for every ticket purchased an ASB card must be punched. Students planning to buy tickets for their friends should bring the additional cards with them.

The price, $3.35, includes train fare $3.23 plus nurse and equipment expenses.

'Flying' Dean Visits San Jose

W. P. Shofstall, dean of administration at Stephens College, Missouri, landed his Cessna 140 at San Jose Friday, and visited San Jose State college. His visit here was part of his tour of California colleges to get ideas for the 25 year college plan now being prepared by Stephens.

"Everywhere I went, people kept suggesting that I visit San Jose State college, and especially examine their personnel program; so here I am," explained Shofstall.

The plane which brought the visitor from Columbia is one of the college's planes, used in the aviation program started there five years ago. Shofstall learned to fly with the first students enrolled in the aviation classes, and has been flying on his business trips ever since.

Stephens college is the largest junior college for women in the United States.

Post Session Added To Summer School

"In addition to six and ten week summer sessions next year, we are planning a post session devoted exclusively to a workshop in conservation education," states Joe West registrar.

"We are cooperating with the State Department of Education in this project. Miss Helen Hefferman, Chief of the Division of Elementary education, hopes to establish some method of granting scholarships to about 125 selected classroom teachers so they may participate in the workshop," Mr. West continued.

Tentative date for the post session is August 11 to August 29.

JAY CEE DIPLOMAS

Every Technical student who expects to receive the junior college diploma this December is asked to see Harrison F. Heath, co-ordinator, in room 114, before October 25 to fill out an application.

HUBBARD POINTS TO BYU FOLLOWING IDAHO WIN

By DICK FRY

San Jose State's Flying Spartans winged home from the happy hunting grounds of Idaho early yesterday content that they have again hit a winning stride in the 1946 football season after dumping the Idaho Vandals 26-14 in Moscow Saturday afternoon.

Confident that his squad is again on the up-grade, Coach Bill Hubbard is already pointing to the Spartan meeting with Brigham Young University in San Jose Friday. Before the Idaho game the locals were undoubtedly in the poorest physical condition of the year, but they came through with two fourth period scores to down the hard-scrapping vandals. With first stringers Bill Parton and Barney Anooshian out entirely, and Mel Stein, reserve center at home with injuries, the Spartans fought an uphill battle to win in Idaho on Saturday.

Against Brigham Young here Friday, the big gold and white machine should be back at full strength, and San Jose fans will again be looking at the team that opened the season by smashing Willamette University 44 to 6.

At Moscow, the Spartans proved that they are not a home-town club and that they can definitely come from behind to win. Hubbard's men took an early lead in the first period at Idaho when Max Culver pulled one of Jim Jackson's tosses out of the air on the Vandal 12 and rolled into the end zone for six. The Vandals went one up in the second quarter on a pass interception by Ray Saras and a 44-yard jaunt by Jim Hatch. Big Bill Miklich made it six all from the San Jose eight and Charles Platino kicked the extra point and 7-6 Idaho at half time.

Hatch and Jim Hammond teamed up to put the Vandals in scoring territory again in the third period. Hatch started off with a 29 yard run, and Hammond tossed to Glenn Lynam for the score. San Jose countered shortly after on a 59-yard drive, sending Bill Schemmel around right end for the last four yards to set the score at 14-12, Idaho, going into the final quarter.

For the first time this year, the Spartan forward wall broke through to block a kick and turn it into a score. Charles Blackwell, reserve guard did the trick on the Idaho 20 and two plays later Pete Denevi went over for the third San Jose tally. Al Hardisty boot-ed the 19th point.

Women Veterans Hold Meeting

Arnacoma, women veterans on campus, held a get-acquainted meeting last week to introduce former service women to each other. Fourteen Waves, five Marines, nine WACS and one navy nurse joined in comparing notes and in group singing of their respective service organization songs.

Arnacoma was organized in the fall quarter, 1945, by a group of former service women. Last quarter the membership rose to 15. With the increase ow women veterans on campus, Barbara Wood, former wave officer and advisor to the group, is confident that more women will turn out.

"Arnacoma" is derived from the first two letters of each of the military services. Last quarter's officers were Doris Helin, president, and Shirley Druge, Secretary-treasurer.

The first formal meeting will be held tonight at 7 when members will elect new officers.

Women's Swim Test Will Be Held Tonight

Women students who pass the intermediate swimming test, which will be given 8 o'clock tonight at the pool in the Men's gym, will be allowed to substitute courses other than swimming while completing the required six quarters of physical education.

Ability to do the crawl, side stroke, elementary back stroke, and front dive will be judged. Students must also know how to float and tread water.

Miss Mary S. Wiley, Women's P. E. department, will conduct the examination.

'KISS AND TELL' TRY-OUTS SOON

Try-outs for "Kiss and Tell" the second production of the dramatic season at San Jose State college will be held November 7 and 8 according to Mr. John R. Kerr of the Speech and Drama department.

Any student who is interested in acting is invited to tryout for this production, copies of the play have been placed on the reserve list in the Reserve Book room in order that persons trying out may acquaint themselves with the play and the various characters.

"Kiss and Tell" written by F. Hugh Herbert, had a successful run on Broadway, and was later made into a movie of the same name, starring Shirley Temple.

It is the story of adolescent youth during the time when the world was given to the men in uniform. Dealing with a small town and its middle class families, the play portrays the troubles of a teen age girl caught in the whirl of a world at war and feeling that time is moving to fast for her to keep up.

Her parents are left way behind, and this affords much of the comedy. Theatre Arts magazine described the play as, "an adolescent bedroom comedy."

Pickwell Leaves

Dr. Gayle Benjamin Pickwell was a new professor to students at the State Teacher's college of San Jose in 1927. The title, "Professor," was new to him.

In the nineteen years that have intervened, Dr. Pickwell has become a part of the college. He was among the faculty when the institution became San Jose State college in 1935.

A native Nebraskan, Dr. Pickwell received an A. B. from his state university in 1921, and the next year completed work for his M. A., also from Nebraska university.

Dr. Pickwell's faculty post here followed five years of instructing at Northwestern university, and his receipt of a Ph. D. at Cornell university.

It was not only his devotion to work in the Science department that occupied his time. Dr. Pickwell took time to become a friend of the students.

During his years at San Jose State college, the expert ornithologist has written several books—one of which is now under publication at the Stanford University Press. Also, the name of Dr. Gayle B. Pickwell has appeared above several contributions to Nature magazine, as well as over articles in Audubon and Natural History magazines.

For several years, Dr. Pickwell's work has been hampered by multiple sclerosis. Like the true scientist that he represents, the retired zoology professor continued his studies in spite of physical handicaps.

It is with admiration that we say:

"It was a privilege to have you with us at San Jose State college. We are grateful for what you have done for the nation, college, and us. It is our desire that you will be able to continue your studies for many years to come."

THRUST AND PARRY

COFFEE BONUS

THRUST AND PARRY:

Congratulations on the editorial regarding ten cent coffee. However, why isn't five cents bonus on campus just as bad as one off.

A lot of credit is due the social affairs committee for the dance they gave us frosh the other night. Good music and entertainment—yes—but when "refreshments" were served at a dime a coke, one thinks odd thoughts. Again, as in the case of your coffee plug, those dimes start to add up.

Now just between us misers, what happened to that extra nickel? Community Chest? No, I think not. I am open to any good explanation 'cause I just wondered. Any one aside from one that those do-nuts cost that much. I noticed the Spartan Spears managed to sacrifice cokes for a nickel on registration day.

RAH FOR RALLY

THRUST AND PARRY:

It is a sad thing to know, but credit is seldom given where it is deserved. Credit, in the form of orchids, is due this week to a great many. Orchids to the participants of Thursday night foot-ball rally. Ken McGill gave his usual "top" performances, aided by his two assistants. The Rally committee did a "super" job; everything went off smoothly, rapid fire, and with plenty of spirit.

All other participants, Don, Dick, George, etc. did a fine job. It is things like these that make students relate "gems of college days" to posterity. I believe all students went away with a lighter heart, a brighter spirit, and a better outlook on college life.

Thanks from all of us to the girls and fellows who made this rally possible—let's have more of them.

ROBERT CULP
ASB No. 4173

ABSENT BOOK WORMS

THRUST AND PARRY:

Say, what do you do with your hours between classes? From 9:30-10:20 I have a free one, and (if one ever study) you know that every hour counts.

Well, after class I gathered by books, and strolled off to the Reserve book room, but I found all the seats were either taken, or books were sitting open before empty chairs. One could see that the first pages of the assignments had been casually peered upon, but like the Arabs, the students seem to fold their tents and "silently steal away" (To the COOP) LEAVING THEIR BOOKS BEHIND!

From there, I went to the following rooms: Reference, Science, Arts, Education, Student Union, and, last by the PEM library. Everywhere I found that the seats either taken, or the books were taking siestas before empty seats.

I headed for the stacks, (but on my way, I spotted a vacant chair in the Science room; so like a track star at the sound of the gun, I crept toward it—being careful not to get a speed ticket. I eagerly opened my books, but in ABOUT two minutes, the whole room began to empty. Hmmm, I thought. But at that moment, the bell rang; so I, too, gathered my books, and with a low sweet tune running through my calm cranium, went to class.

What I want to know is, why can't people taking Coopology take their books with them? Or, should we bring rain coats, etc., study on the lawns in the cooling atmosphere of the sprinkling system?

COLLECTS CHESSMEN

Newby Beats U. S. Checker Champ; Then Decides to Start Playing Chess

When you're good enough at checkers to beat the United States checker champion, it's time to turn to chess.

That happened in the case of L. C. Newby, head of the Modern Language department at San Jose State college, when he played the checker champion in San Francisco about 15 years ago—and won. Since then, his attention has been turned to chess. More time and plenty of interest in late years has enabled Mr. Newby to bring his game up to a par which should satisfy any aspiring chess fan.

CHALLENGER

At the present time, Mr. Newby is sharpening his talent for the game of skill against members of a chess club which meets every Friday night in Los Gatos. Two other faculty members, Lyman H.

Daugherty of the Science department, and Dr. James O. Wood of the English department, both ardent chess players, have also shown an interest in the Los Gatos club.

Admitting that he has an irresistible urge to buy a nice set of chessmen when he sees one, Mr. Newby has acquired a good collection of sets.

Included in the collection are two sets from Mexico. One of them is made of hard wood, and the other carved from cow horn. He also has an ivory set from China which he rarely uses because of its slight variance from the usual chessmen.

A little pocket set was presented to Mr. Newby in Munich by Dr. Boris Gregory of the Modern Language department on behalf of a group of tourists he was guiding.

RUSSIA CHAMP

"Chess is becoming tremendously popular throughout the world, with Russia even going so far as to teach it in their schools," said Mr. Newby. Last year it was Russia who beat the United States in a radio match to determine the world championship.

With the increased interest shown by many veterans who took up chess during the war, there may be enough students interested to start a chess club on campus. Mr. Newby has said that he would be willing to help organize such a club if students would care to have one.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

We'd like to win all the time, but, of course, that wouldn't be normal, not really fair. If we can win a good share of our games, some years more than others, that's the way it should be.

We're getting bigger all the time, and there's no reason why we shouldn't have a good team if we're going to have a team at all. If teams were good in proportion to the size of the college, we'd have one of the best on the Coast. But, of course, there are other

One of You Is Being Followed

Have any of you Spartans had the strange feeling of being tailed lately? If you have a clear conscience, there's nothing to worry about, it's probably just one of Jules Bozzi's men pulling a publicity job.

Jules Bozzi, local jeweler, is sponsoring "Busy Body," a fifteen minute program of conversation over KSJO Tuesday, 3:45, which gives the description of two persons who have been followed and photographed during the week. The persons are described and their actions over a certain period of time are revealed. The photographs are placed in the store window at 23 E. Santa Clara, and if the

COLLEGE ROOM OF LIBRARY IS SJS MUSEUM

By ABNER FRITZ

Did your grandmother go to San Jose Normal School? Would you like to find out what the local papers said about your father when he was a football hero years ago? You would? Well, here's the way to go about it.

On the main floor of the Library building, adjacent to the librarian's office, is the San Jose State college collection room. In this room are housed the earliest publications of San Jose State college, even before it assumed its present name.

The room is furnished with desks and chairs taken from the second building which was erected in 1880, and stood until 1906.

In the showcase on the east wall hangs a diploma issued to Julia S. Martin in March, 1873. Also in the showcase are some of the early college medals earned by representatives of our school.

Books written by faculty members and books written about the oldest State Educational system west of the Rockies are catalogued and obtainable here.

According to the "Busy Body," a San Jose State college student is on the list for Tuesday's program. It might be you.

FROM HUNGER

By TOM MARSHALL

We doff our well worn chapeau to bother Bob Pearson this morning—this despite the fact that our balding noggin is definitely allergic to these frosty mornings. It seems that Pearson, a former publications man of considerable talent, has chosen to throw darts at my (and I quote) "drivel" (end quote).

It is gratifying to note that such a noteworthy literary giant has seen fit to analyze my inane mumbblings. Brother Pearson has decided that the feature page has sunk to a new low (the NADIR yet) because my contributions do not follow a high scholarly pattern of classical journalism.

Armed with a book of the Marquis of Queensbury rules and the backing of a few fans, I shall make no excuses but shall have at the boulder roundly. Naturally, Pearson, old man, my stuff is definitely on the ridiculous side, and so it is intended. I shan't resort to the trite palaver of a discourse on the late (but hardly lamented) war, and how mine is but a reaction against seriousness. No indeed, for mine is merely a weird sense of humor.

I enjoy nonsense and rather enjoy kicking around a few serious ideas, so that perhaps a small portion of the Spartan Daily readers can see the funny side of life here (as you have in your parodies on famous writers.) Unfortunately, however, I am a poor struggler with but a style of my OWN set to a tune of drivel.

A journalism class is merely a seat of learning, and little can be expected along the way of talent unless talent can be put into it—and not a kick in the seat!

I might hasten to point out that brother Pearson may well bring the feature page up to his more classical standards by making a few contributions of his own. Without fear of cries of EGO EGO!, I might also add that I am not a "paid" member of the Spartan Daily staff, but rather a contributor.

A little over three years ago, I had (or rather flatter myself that I had) a small following for the column, and was amazed to find quite a number of people asking me if I would write again when I returned this fall. Have even had a few favorable comments; so judge the efforts are not entirely for naught. Hence, I shall continue to make kindergarten remarks about college life as I see it.

LA TORRE WILL HAVE 8 SECTIONS

"We are trying to make this yearbook the best San Jose State college has ever seen," says Phyllis Clayton, editor of the 1947 La Torre.

The book, one of the largest in the history of the school, will be nine by twelve inches with 224 pages, and will include eight sections separated by colored division pages.

A department and faculty section will include pictures of interest in the departments and informal group shots of faculty members.

Another section will be devoted exclusively to student government. The activities section will include Spartan Daily, La Torre, Revelries, Drama, and Music. Other sections will be seniors and veterans, honor societies and clubs, sororities and fraternities, life, and athletics, which will devote 20 pages to men's sports alone.

Hawaiian Club Elects Officers

The San Jose State college Hawaiian club elected Marjory Banks, a charter member of the club, president at their first meeting Tuesday night, held in a local Chop Suey house. Bill Shepherd was elected vice-president, Lorraine May became secretary, and Elaine Malana was voted treasurer of the club.

The club enjoyed an oriental dinner, and after the club business was completed, the members were entertained by string music and dances—strictly in the Hawaiian fashion.

After viewing the Hula dancing, miss Ada Gardner of the Coop and Miss Bernice Van Gundy from the Dean of Men's office, gave their hearty approval, and suggested that any campus organizations who would like Hawaiian specialty acts at any of their functions should contact the Hawaiian club.

PARIS PARLEY DISCUSSED

"Russia's demands for reparations from Finland, Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Italy will cause the national economy of each country to break down, leaving no alternative to the nation other than communism," stated Mr. David MacKaye in his news events class Friday.

The topic under discussion in the news events class was "News Behind the Paris Peace Conference." MacKaye explained the formation of the conference, what took place, and the results of the meeting. "It was not a peace conference," said MacKaye, "as no peace treaties were formulated or signed."

Theta Mu Smoker

Secretary Mal Bowman announced that Theta Mu Sigma's second "get-together" smoker will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Germania hall. The meeting will last about two hours.

"Theta Mu Sigma always holds the second smoker a few weeks after the formal invitational meeting," explains Walt McDonald, president. The formal smoker this fall was held recently at the De Anza hotel.

During tonight's get-together, members of Theta Mu will discuss their plans for the coming Interfraternity touch-football league play. McDonald urges all prospective pledges to attend.

Swanson Talks On Vocations

Mr. Edwin A. Swanson, San Jose State college Commerce department faculty member, outlined the requirements and opportunities in the field of stenography to members of the graduating class at Abraham Lincoln high school last week during their Vocational Conference.

Similar to last year's vocational conferences held at the high school, the 1947 graduating seniors conducted a series in which several faculty members of various departments at San Jose State college participated.

We have a fine big squad this year, and the men are working hard. Still, we don't want to over-emphasize the game. Don't forget the books, young fellows. If football interferes with college, cut it out. You will never be criticized for using common sense.

Perhaps the little lady at home can help on this. She's there all day, or most of it, while you are here in college and out on the practice field. She may see things more clearly than you do. You'll have to give up something, you know, to get an education. I'd hate to see you marked "disq" at the end of the quarter. Glad to have you play, but don't get your life signals mixed.

And that applies to a great many others. Extra-curricular activities don't amount to much in the Registrar's office. The first month is slipping away, and I hope you aren't. You'll have to make yourself work harder than you want to, many of you, if you are going to stay here. If you have never worked before, now is the time to start.

It will be Mr. West's disagreeable task to notify a goodly number of you not to come back next quarter. If you don't want to be on that list, now is the time to do something about it. If you are already behind, it will take heroic efforts to catch up. (We are ex-

Instructors To Attend Lectures

Dr. Roy D. Willey, Education department, and Dr. Marcus Reitzel, Art department, are attending the annual conference on the Direction and Improvement of Instructions and Child Welfare at Long Beach.

The professors will represent San Jose State college as well as their respective departments at the conference which started yesterday and will end Wednesday.

Lectures on child training and school supervision will be presented by Dr. Will Durant, Miss Alice Dagleish and Miss Gertrude Hankamp. A series of demonstrations in art education, audio-visual aids to instructions, guidance of the child and kindergarten education will be presented.

Spartan Spears, sophomore women's honorary service organization, elected the following officers at their weekly meeting Tuesday:

President, Jane Potter; vice president, Virginia Luke; recording secretary, Joan Schwartz; corresponding secretary, Ernestine Lavignino; historian, Bea Hohman; treasurer, Jean Glines; reporter, Barbara Brewster; and AWA representative, Nancy Talbot.

Installation of officers and a farewell party for outgoing Spears will be held tomorrow night at 6:30 in the home of Patricia Polk.

SJ PLAYERS ELECT MILLER

Earl Miller, senior speech major, was elected president of the San Jose State Players, college dramatic society, at their regular meeting Thursday. Other officers elected were: Deane Healey, vice president; Maggie Miller, secretary and Dadie McNeil, treasurer.

The Players put on one play every year for the public. "This year we plan to run the production five nights instead of the usual three," said Miller. "The proceeds from the two extra performances will be donated to the Memorial Chapel fund in honor of John Caro and Dean Paizis, two former Players who gave their last performances in the service of their country."

THE HOT CORNER

By DICK FRY

Here's an interesting follow-up on the Jim Crow incident that was fomented by the Fresno State-Oklahoma City university game last week. We have great respect for Dick Friendly and his Flash Back column in the San Francisco Chronicle. Listen to what Dick had to say about the game in question: "Last week's ruckus between Fresno State and Oklahoma City university concerning the Bulldog's two Negro players, Jack Kelley and Millard Mitchell, simply underlines a situation which has existed for years, and which can't be corrected until the Jim Crow states are left severely alone to play football among themselves."

NEVADA AFFECTED

"I don't know what a chance Nevada might have to beat Mississippi State under any circumstances, but Jim Aiken will have to leave most of his offense home when the Wolfpack goes down to the Old South next month. The best punter and pass-catcher on the Coast, Horace Gillo, and Nevada's best running back, Bill Bass, are colored boys. Senator Bilbo would blow his last gasket if Mississippi State's white football supremacy were thus endangered."

Let 'em play in their own Bigotry Conference with the winner getting free tickets to a Paul Robeson concert."

Friendly's effort, which we don't believe was too much of an effort as far as experiencing any physical fatigue goes, is a journalistic gem. And how right the gentlemen is!

Nothing is as pleasing to the ego as the feeling that you are in the position to verbally kick a man who's down when you're on the winning side in an argument. And kick we will.

HARTMAN HAS THE GOODS

Although it won't change the 19-19 tie that went into the records after the San Jose State-Hawaiian All-Star game last week, we now have proof positive that the officiating in this game was right on. Our authority is the 16 mm. movies of the contest which is now in the possession of Tiny Hartman. Penalties which brought remarks such as, "eagle-eyed officials who made life miserable for the All-Stars," are cleared entirely. Those boys didn't call things as they saw them, they called them as they were.

WE WUZZN'T ROBBED

Don't get the idea that the P. E. department or the Spartan Daily is stealing any of Leo Durocher's lip and yelling, "we wuz robbed." This is just a statement of fact revealed by Hartman's movies. On the screen pass play that gave the Hawaiians their third score late in the game, Tiny's celluloids show an All-Star, the right tackle to be specific, throwing a block on Roy Mangini, Spartan fullback. Downfield blocking by an ineligible pass receiver is highly irregular and illegal on a screen pass. Quite evidently, the "home town" officials missed the payoff—the play that might have cost San Jose a 19 to 12 win.

SPARTAN SWIMMERS SPLIT WATER POLO OPENER WITH BEARS

San Jose State's water polo teams got an even break with the University of California Bears in their season opener at the pool in the Men's gym Friday night.

Spartan JayVees won their initial outing of the year in the first game 12-11 with a goal by Frank Goulette in the last three seconds of play. Coach Charlie Walker's varsity squad dropped the feature contest to the Bear swimmers 11 to 4.

JAYVEE BATTLE EVEN

Before a capacity crowd, the Spartan JayVees battled the Blue and Gold splashers evenly for three action-packed quarters. Late in the final period the Bears took an 11-10 lead, but with a minute and 55 seconds remaining to play, the Spartlets came through with goals by Iliff and Goulette for the clincher. Timer, Marty Taylor, fired the final gun shortly after Goulette's shot hit the net.

RUDLOFF LEADS VARSITY

California got off to an early lead in the Varsity contest and were never headed. Big Ed Rudloff provided all the Spartan scoring punch, netting three goals in the first half and one in the second. Rudloff, a sophomore Physical Education major from Palo Alto, received international recognition during the war as the outstanding swimmer in the CBI theater. During his time overseas, the Spartan poloist won top honors in the India-Burma swim meet held at Agra, India and he also walked away with the outstanding performer's trophy in the Calcutta regional meet. While in Calcutta, he played with several winning water polo combinations including the Royal Calcutta Swimming Club and an All-Star American team.

TOP SCORERS

In the JayVee contest, Goulette led the Spartan paddlers in scoring with five goals. Bob Iliff poured four shots into the cage for runner-up honors.

Walt Bowman led Coach Hal Weatherbe's Junior Varsity in the point column, scoring three goals for the Bears.

Robert Frazier, of Palo Alto, acted as referee for both the Varsity and JayVee tilts.

were back with Frank Minini leading the way on runs of 7, 12, and 11 yards. Denevi made it 25-14 on a quarterback sneak from the one. Hardisty again kicked the extra point.

In Brigham Young, the Spartans face a squad that pulled one of the major upsets of the weekend by downing the University of Colorado 10 to 7. It was the first victory over Colorado in the history of the Utah school, and showed that the Salt Lake team is better than their season record of one win and three losses indicates.

Polls Planned

Tentative plans are being made for the organization of a student opinion poll at San Jose State College. Such a poll was conducted last summer by the Public Opinion and Propaganda class taught by Dr. George G. Bruntz.

Because of the wide interest in student opinion polls, Dr. Bruntz plans to conduct a number of them during the year. He invites any student who is interested in this project to see him in his office, room 18, any time next week.

PICTURE OF THE WEEK

COACH BILL HUBBARD

Here he is, Coach Bill Hubbard is the unanimous choice of the San Jose State student body today as the "man of the week" by virtue of the manner in which his Flying Spartans zoomed back into the win column with a 26-14 victory over the Idaho Vandals in Moscow Saturday.

The cut running above was taken a few years back when Hubbard was head coach of the Spartan basketball squad. Bill has added a few worry lines and some gray hairs since then, most of them in the current grid season. Last week he led the gold and white team back into the Coast grid picture and reassured the experts that they were right in picking the Spartans as one of the toughest CCAA crown contenders.

PTA Official To Speak Here

Miss Mildred Wharton, representative of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers association, will speak on the better understanding of parent teacher organizations tomorrow in rooms 112, at 3:30 p. m.

How parent teacher associations participate in all phases of work with children will also be discussed by Miss Wharton. All education majors are requested by Dr. William Sweeney to attend this meeting, and all general secondary students are invited to attend.

On Wednesday, Miss Wharton will speak to the San Jose Patron's association at 2 in the Little Theater. According to Mrs. Dana

CASABA TALENT PREPARING FOR COMING SEASON

With talent "aplenty," Walt McPherson, head basketball coach, can expect a ripe season when casaba time rolls around November 25. The Spartan cagemen are set to open against the Stanford Indians up on the farm that eve, and between then and now, all Walt has to do is whittle a turn out of close to 100 eager cagers down to a playing squad.

INDICATIONS PROMISING

The way things shape up now, the State squad is sprinkled with former Spartan stars as well as some very likely prospects in JC transfers and former prep men. Leading the list to sign up is Big Grant Denmark, former Long Beach JC and St. Mary's Pre-Flight standout. Denmark, a lad who stands 6'4" in his stocking feet, and tips the scales at a mere 205 was voted the most outstanding player of the Modesto JC invitational tourney where he scored an average of 22 points. A Palo Alto boy, Denmark was slated to start for the Indians this winter, but upset the Indian cart when he enrolled in the local school.

PREP STARS ADDED

Other outstanding prospects are Ralph Romero, former all-PAL prep ace at San Jose High; Ed Magette, who set a new school scoring record here last season while racking up 338 points for the Spartan varsity; Ted Holmes, another returning letter man and first stringer from last season's squad; Jim Cruze, 200 pounder, a former frosh standout at USF; Ivan Robinson, prep scoring record holder from San Diego High; Carl Lofstedt, a 6'5" center prospect.

RETURNING LETTERMEN

Also bolstering the squad will be returning lettermen from pre-war teams such as Hal Sonntag and Don Wolfe. Coach McPherson also greeted many other prep and JC stars on opening day, and expressed satisfaction at the size of the turnout.

Tentative plans call for a 25 game schedule. The Spartans will again participate in the CCAA league which includes COP, Fresno, Cal Poly, San Diego State, and Santa Barbara. Among the other opponents will be such hardwood notables as USF, Stanford, St. Mary's, the Honolulu All-Stars, Nevada, and Willamette.
